Hooked Up with a City Team

Bill Gannon, one of Stony Plain's promising young hockey players, is hooked up with "Pop" McMan's South Side Safeway team at the present time, and has been practising with the regulars. This team has a fine reputation in the juvenile class in the City. The Safeway manager is well pleased with this season's turnout and is confident that he will have a championship squad. The goalies and defence players have been chosen, and Bill is one of a dozen pre-fected from which 3 forward lines will be chosen.

Pat Gannon is in Calgary, and has been playing with one of the senior teams there.

Cream Truck Changes.

Motor truckmen who specialize in freighting milk and cream are wondering how they are to be affected when the new regulations governing the transportation of these commodities come into force.
The proposals are said to include the elimination of the competition in the various districts between the truckmen, and have the trucking done by one person in each district.

The district truckers are to haul their cans out to the several main highways, and leave these at certain places. The cans are then to be picked up by super-trucks, taken to the nearest central point. At this central point the trucks from the various ordermies and milk depots are to get their cans.

At the present time this district is being served by 2 truck-men from Spruce Grove.

High School Patter.

Encouraged by the success of their dance Sept. 23d, the S.P.H. students are preparing a concert, to be held in Kelly's Hall Dec. 4. A good program is being arranged and a hearty evening is asured for those attending.

An essay contest is now open to all students. A special cash prize will be awarded the 2 winners on Dec. 4. The judging of essays is in capable hands.

With the almost springlike weather of the past week students have left their basement games and outdoor sports are again in full swing.

Possibilities Of Radio In Bringing Closer Together The Vast Sections of Canada

There are North besides our own North which think they are fair places in which to live, and by broadcast the felicitous they enjoy they break the imagined deep silence of their linked seasons of long days and of long nights. There is the North of Europe, which maintains 17,000,000 people. These nations are constitutionally comprised within the kingdoms of Sweden, Norway, and Denmark and Iceland, and the republic of Finland. And recently they celebrated the "Day of the North" by putting on a broadcast, during which each of the Kings and the President addressed the scattered hearers in the Northland.

The idea of this broadcast probably was taken from Major Gladstone Murray's organized British Empire broadcasts. The broadcast served its purpose to strengthen the spirit of co-operation with which the northern countries in Europe wish to fortify their position and cement their cohesion. Its voices, certainly, were reserved to those of potentates, while Major Murray added to the voice of the British Monarch the voices of persons of low as well as of high estate, the voices of aboriginals, obviously, on a harmonious content in a domestic security. Perhaps similar aspects pertaining to our own Northland might, with delight and profit, be broadcast by our brothers in the North to outsiders, based, obviously, on a harmonious content in a domestic security. Perhaps similar aspects pertaining to our own Northland might, with delight and profit, be broadcast by our brothers in the North to outsiders, based, obviously, on a harmonious content in a domestic security.

These European "Cousins of the North" conveyed, to a listening continent a simple though impressive estimate of themselves, based, obviously, on a harmonious content in a domestic security. Perhaps similar aspects pertaining to our own Northland might, with delight and profit, be broadcast by our brothers in the North to outsiders, based, obviously, on a harmonious content in a domestic security. Perhaps similar aspects pertaining to our own Northland might, with delight and profit, be broadcast by our brothers in the North to outsiders, based, obviously, on a harmonious content in a domestic security.

Major Murray might, now that his genius for organizing broadcast programmes is to be exercised in Canada, play with the suggestion of broadcasting a cross-section of life in one portion of Canada for the intelligent delight of listeners in other portions. Each knows about the other geographically, but each is not always familiar with the spirit and the culture, the customs and the means, of the other. And the whole of Canada, or the whole of the more thickly settled sections beyond whose fringe lies the Northland, would find delight and instruction if it could listen in to broadcasts by "Brothers of the North." We might be surprised—we should be surprised—by what they might tell us of the compensations they find in life as it may be lived in this day, which is the "Day of the North."—Winnipeg Free Press.

Romans Manufactured Cloth

Evidence Has Been Unearthed Among Ruins In England Discoveries among the ruins unearthed near Huddon in Yorkshire, England, lead experts to believe that the Romans had a woolen mill there. Evidently it was a flourishing sheep and farming district in those ancient times. There is evidence that a thousand years before Yorkshire's mills began to turn out some of the best woolen cloth in the world the Romans were manufacturing cloth in the district, and perhaps sending it to Rome to be made into togas. The recent discovery follows a number of interesting finds at Huddon, that began to be made more than a year ago. The first discovery brought to light on a hillside the ruins of a villa that had a central heating plant and splendid mosaic floors.

A retailer, on receiving the first delivery of a large order, was surprised to find the goods not up to sample. "Cancel my order immediately," he wired to the manufacturer. They replied: "Hagset, not cancel immediately. You must take your turn."

Keeps Driver Awake

Radio In Car Likely To Prevent Drowsing At Wheel

A consumer's research service which offers paid subscribers a periodical guide to buying, refuses to make a comparative test of automobile radios. It advises against installing any radio in any car as it considers it a dangerous distraction on the road.

There are available no figures showing how many wrecked cars contain radio or to what extent radio contributed to their condition or to inattentive driving generally; but the experience of car owners whom one knows seems to point the other way. Radio installations, where they affect driving at all, appear to work against other factors which figure in unsafe driving.

Speeding is a factor in point. Above certain speeds, varying with cars, reception is interfered with by the roar of the motor and wind-stream and by tire static. A driver listening to radio is not hitting 75 or so on the open road out of sheer exuberance. It is the experience of some drivers that radio solves the problem of drowsing at the wheel. Every tourist has a prescription for fighting off the trance that settles on him in the last hours of a long haul—chewing gum, smoking and other mechanical sleep chasers. Radio is at least as conducive to wakefulness as conversation.

The position of the consumer's service possibly comes from the old inhibition against talking to the motor. A motorist talking on the road would appreciate being talked to. And motorists who do not travel alone are being talked to in any event—by their passengers or—less personally—by radio if they have one.—Detroit News.

Horses Being Trained

Just One Of Many Preparations For Coronation Next May

The painstaking nature of the preparations being made for the coronation may be judged from the training being given to police horses that will guard the procession to and from the abbey.

Horses naturally shy and kick when they feel anything pressing against their hindquarters. Mounted policemen have to back their horses into crowds that show a tendency to get out of hand and the only way to overcome this tendency is to accustom the horses to backing into suspended swinging dummies until they come to be alarmed by pressure on their flanks. At Timber Court, the training quarters of the city's mounted police, special attention is being given to this feature of the training of police horses. There they are being made familiar with the presence of brilliant scarlet uniforms and sandwichmen and being taught to stand still while umbrellas are opened under their noses. It is fore-sight of this character that has made the metropolitan police force an example for the world.

The royal horses at Buckingham Palace also are being coached for their duties in connection with the coronation. They are being taken by grooms to the changing of the guard at the palace so that they will be used to the presence of the military, the shouting of orders and the playing of bands.

Another interesting fact is that a horse is being trained at the London zoo to be steady in the presence of camels and elephants because he will be ridden by Lord Lillithgow, the viceroy of India, during the expected coronation ceremonies in that country.—Toronto Star Weekly.

Clever Reporter Is Blind

Brannell Peck, totally blind, is described by Leslie T. Fox, publisher of the Cache Valley Herald, Utah, as one of the most efficient newspaper reporters known to him. Peck does the work of the ordinary street reporter, but naturally uses the telephone a great deal. He says he thinks he can remember every telephone number he ever had occasion to call up.

Eighty Years Ago

Some Busy Employees Of Chicago Firm Had To Observe

We sometimes, though seldom now, talk about the good old days. Most workers, in most industries and stores are to-day working under much better conditions than they did a few years ago. Store clerks for instance used to carry on their task under difficult conditions which have been practically abolished to-day. Recently the Carson, Pirie Scott Co. of Chicago celebrated the 80th anniversary of its founding, and a set of early rules of the company were found. Here they are, and you can judge for yourself whether or not there is more freedom to-day than 80 years ago:

"Store must be open from 6 a.m. until 9 p.m. the entire year around. "Store must be swept; counters, base shelves and show cases dusted; lamps filled, trimmed and chimneys cleaned; pans made; doors and windows oiled; a pail of water and a bucket of coal must be brought up before breakfast, if there is time to do so; and attend to all customers who call. Store must not be opened on the Sabbath unless absolutely necessary, and then only for a few moments.

"The employee who is in the habit of smoking Spanish cigars, and being shaved in the barber shops, or going to dances or other places of amusement will surely give his employer every reason to be suspicious of his integrity and honesty. Each employee must pay not less than $5 per year to the church and must attend Sunday School regularly. Men employees are given one evening each week for courting and two if they go to prayer meetings.

Some of the so-called vice of 80 years ago are fairly commonplace now, except we don't know what Spanish cigars are. The idea of each employee paying at least $5 to the church each year is not such a bad idea to revive, and we doubt whether one night for courting would suit the modern generation.—Bowmanville Statesman.

Proud Of His Job

New Zealand Shepherd Has Worked 74 Years For One Family

The oldest shepherd in New Zealand is proud, but more proud is he of the fact that for 74 years his only employers have been one family. A shepherd on the station of the late Mr. Alexander Sutherland at Lyrall Bay, Wellington, at the age of 13—a shepherd on the same man's station at Hinakura, Wairarapa at the age of 25—and still a shepherd for the late Mr. Sutherland's grandson on the same Wairarapa station at the age of 87 is his record.

Doctor: "What did you want to see me about?" Patient: "Well, I know my heart knocks a bit, my liver's gone back on me, and I'm not proud of my kidneys; but in a general sort of way there isn't much the matter. It's really my corn that worries me."

Taking Gigantic Census To Secure Accommodation For Visitors To Coronation

Produce More Sugar

British Beets Had To Be Sweated In World

Due to the exhaustive tests made by the chemists at the British National Laboratory in London, the British-grown beet has been made to produce more sugar than foreign beets do, and at Peterborough a plant has just been completed whose product is 150 tons of sugar every 24 hours—the largest amount coming from any factory per diem in the world.

According to the correspondent of the Daily Telegraph of London, no part of the machine can be stopped from the moment it is started until the supply of beet from the farms comes to an end in January. One dare not, as Glyp Monwney, one of the men who have helped create this great new agricultural industry told the correspondent, stop a sugar factory for fear of fermentation.

From every load of sugar beet a secret 25-pound sample is taken. Chemists test it for the amount of dirt, the extent of "whiskers" and the thoroughness with which they have been "topped" in the field. As a final test chemists take a sample of 25 grams of the pulp and press it on to men, who, through their lenses in a darkened camera can see at once the sugar content of the load.

Canadians Like To Read

Public Libraries Lended Over 31,000,000 Books During Last Year

The Canadian likes to settle himself under the light of a good book. A survey of public libraries conducted by the Dominion bureau of statistics shows more than 21,000,000 circulation in 1935.

This was carried out at a cost of $2,000,000 or about 18 cents per head of population.

Circulation was slightly lower than at the last biennial survey in 1933, the exact figures being 21,137,902 and 22,376,540. This is attributed to reduced budgets resulting in fewer books and to a lessened number of unemployed readers.

The bureau shows that by spending 38 cents per capita on libraries in the United States, 3.7 books per person are lent there in the year. In Canada with less than half that support, libraries lend two. In Great Britain, however, the figure is 4½. A continuous increase in non-fiction reading was reported by some of the larger libraries which said the decline was entirely in fiction.

Measured by special apparatus, the speed of a driver when it touches a golf ball is 70 to 125 miles an hour, according to an experiment performed in England.

A gigantic census of all possible accommodation in London, and in towns within 100-miles radius, for coronation visitors next May is being undertaken by the hotels and restaurants association of Great Britain. This huge survey will remove the fears of people who have thought they will either be unable to get rooms or will have to pay exorbitant prices.

The secretary of the association said: "We invite all proprietors of hotels, houses and unlicensed boarding houses, lodging houses, flats and private houses within the radius of 100 miles to write to the office of the association, 11 Southampton Row, Strand, giving full particulars of the accommodation available and the terms."

"When we have completed this census in a few weeks, we shall be able to supply all applicants with particulars of where they can stay for the Coronation."

"People who offer rooms at what we consider extravagant charges will not be included in our lists. It is the aim of all members of our association and kindred bodies to prevent profiteering of any kind in rooms for the Coronation."

"Applicants for rooms for one or two nights before and after Coronation Day on May 12, however, stand little chance of obtaining them. The demand is very great and many hotels and boarding houses will accept advance bookings only for a minimum of five days."

So far the association is conducting the census without charge.

No applicant need be afraid of being unable to secure accommodation. In London's most luxurious hotels there will be many official visitors, guests of the Government, for whom accommodation will be provided. These include reigning monarchs and their suites and ministers and officials who will be arriving for the Imperial Conference, which is almost coincident with the Coronation.

For these guests the association has been informed that the Government will require for a considerable time 900 bedrooms. These will be allocated, on a quota basis among London's best hotels. The hotels generally rated as first-class in London number 37, and provide among them 12,000 bedrooms.

There are, according to the association, whose president is G. Reeves-Smith, of the Savoy Hotel, a further 5,000 good hotels in London, providing 250,000 rooms, and the smaller hotels and boarding-houses which normally offer another 250,000 rooms.

Additional accommodation at seaside resorts and other towns within quick travelling distance of London could, it is calculated, easily provide for at least another 1,500,000 visitors.

Start Work Early

Some Stage Players Begin Career When Quite Young

There is a simple reason why retired stars of theatre and sport produce such a startling effect of antiquity when they emerge for a moment in the public eye or leave this earthly scene forever. It is because they begin life so young. A writer or a lawyer must live to be 70 if he is to be considered a career of fifty years. But a stage player may die at 60 and yet have been before the public for half a century. Like the late Mrs. Fiske, a stage player may have "gone on" as an infant in arms.

In sport they do not start quite that early, but in baseball and boxing a man is a veteran at 30. He may have made his debut at 18, enjoyed a full twenty years of glory, and come back after twenty-five years of retirement, a ghost from the past and only a name to the younger generations, at the not very formidable age of 63.

Free Trial of Vick Products For Better Control of Colds Offered by Local Druggists

Free Packages Contain Trial Size Vicks Vapo-rub and Vicks VapoRub, with Details of Plan that Cut Sickness from Colds in Half in Clinic Tests

In your own home this winter, wouldn't you like to see sickness from colds cut more than half? That was just one of the results averaged by thousands of people in clinic tests of Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds—a practical home guide to greater freedom from colds.

The free trial packages now offered by your druggist introduce you to Vicks Plan and the products that make it possible: Vicks Vapo-rub and Vicks VapoRub.

To Help Prevent Many Colds

Vicks Vapo-rub is the scientific aid in preventing colds. Vicks Chemists spent more than 25 years and $250,000 in research, experiments, and tests before perfecting this effective Vicks formula.

Vicks Vapo-rub is specially designed for the nose and upper throat where 3 out of 4 colds start. The nose spray supply it—a few drops up each nostril—Vicks Vapo-rub spreads throughout this trouble zone, aiding and gently stimulating Nature's natural defense.

Used as that first sneeze, sniffle or any sign of nasal irritation—Nature's usual warning that a cold threatens—Vicks Vapo-rub helps to prevent many colds, and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

And when colds have already been led to a stuffed-up nose or a miserable head-cold, Vicks Vapo-rub brings comforting relief, reduces swollen membranes, clears clogging mucus, makes every breath clear and cool again.

You'll find Vicks Vapo-rub wonderfully easy and pleasant to use, at home and all work.

To Help End a Cold Quicker

When a cold strikes without warning or gets by even the best precautions—as some colds always will—Vicks VapoRub helps end it quicker. You simply rub Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest, and back for three minutes. Almost before you finish rubbing, VapoRub starts to bring relief two ways at once: (1) It acts directly through the skin into the lungs and pleura; (2) Its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are inhaled in for hours—about 18 times a minute—direct to the irritated air-passages.

This combined poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm, relieves irritation, helps secret congestion. While the patient relaxes into comfortable sleep, VapoRub keeps right on working. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Cough Drops Free, Too

For the throat that is dry and harsh, or irritated by coughing, Vicks Moisturizing Cough Drops—throat-soothing ingredients of Vicks VapoRub—can be used for quick, convenient relief.

Get Your Free Package Today

Don't forget—your druggist has only a limited supply of free trial packages containing these Vicks preparations. Get yours to-day while they last. And be sure to look in your free package for full details of Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds—which cut sickness from colds in half in clinic tests among 17,353 people. What it can do for your family may be less—or more—but doesn't this find record make it well worth trying?

PATTERN 5676

"What beautiful gloves! And you made them yourself?" Mother, sister or friend is sure to be flattered by so personal a gift. They're so simple to do, too. Here's the secret—crochet each glove lengthwise; whip together the two identical pieces with contrasting yarn (in itself a decoration), and include gussets for that important wrist flare. You'll find these gloves will give the wear of an extra pair, made in either yarn or string. In pattern 5676 you will find directions for making these gloves; an illustration of them and of all stitches used; material requirements.

To Guard Alpine Climbers

Italy is the first country in Europe, perhaps in the world, to install radio-phones, communications between lonely Alpine huts and the nearest towns in the valleys below, in order to make Alpine climbing a safer sport. Fostered by the Italian Alpine committee, the plan provides for installations in more than 40 of the principal chalets in the Italian Alps. In time more than 200 installations will be made.

Life Insurance in Canada

How much more of a stake in life insurance Canadians have than the people of every other country except the United States has just been published. Though the United Kingdom has about four times the Dominion's population, its people carry only about 70 per cent. more insurance than ours. The amount in force in the Dominion is nearly twice as much as in Germany, four times what it is in Australia and five times what it is in France—Edmonton Journal.

BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS WPE OUT TUBERCULOSIS

By unremitting efforts in its fight against Tuberculosis, the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League has succeeded in reducing the death rate from this disease to one-half of what it was fifteen years ago, and by this great achievement, Saskatchewan now has the distinction of having the lowest death rate of any state or province in the world.

Yet, despite the encouraging progress that has been made, Tuberculosis is still one of the most serious disease problems we have to face. Every third death in the age period between 15 and 45 years from acute infectious diseases is due to Tuberculosis.

Therefore, there must be no let-up in the fight against Tuberculosis. Every citizen can do his or her part by buying Christmas Seals. Educational and preventive work are very important factors in this never-ending campaign. The money raised by the sale of Christmas Seals is used exclusively for these purposes and made possible the examination of 54,675 persons in the past eight years. Last year 14,600 persons were examined.

The cost of caring for the 750 patients in the three sanatoria of the province is met by taxation. Funds for educational and preventive work are provided by voluntary contributions.

Early diagnosis of suspected cases is of vital importance in the sanatoria held monthly at seven points in the province, where free examination is available to all. Last year the proportion of early cases admitted to the sanatoria was 49 per cent., compared with ten per cent. fifteen years ago. The education of the public as to the symptoms and dangers of Tuberculosis has brought about this result.

The majority of cases discovered in the early stages of the disease recover; their stay in the sanatoria is shorter, and the cost to themselves and the taxpayer correspondingly reduced.

People must learn that Tuberculosis in the early stages is just as curable as pneumonia. In the later stages it is one of the most serious diseases there are. The public must be made more intelligently and more conscious. The public must know something about the symptoms. First, loss of strength, loss of weight, fever and later a cough and other more serious symptoms.

Because people know more about the symptoms of Tuberculosis today than they did fifteen years ago, the infection rate among children and young adults has been reduced to one-quarter of what it was then. The fear and superstition which Tuberculosis once inspired has largely

DR. R. G. FERGUSON, D.B.E. director of medical services and general superintendent of the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League. He has been connected with the League since 1917, and is recognized as a world authority on Tuberculosis. Saskatchewan's distinction of having the lowest Tuberculosis death rate in the world is attributed by Dr. Ferguson to the progressive policy of the Board of Directors of the League and the efficient and loyal co-operation of the staff of the three sanatoria.

One way in which everyone may play a part in this season of the year is to buy and use Christmas Seals. The money you spend on such seals is used to strengthen the forces which protect you and yours against a very real and powerful enemy. To buy seals makes you a participant in the campaign, lining you up with the forces of health and happiness against disease and misery.

Italy Makes Denial

Declare Rectors That Law Courts Will Be Abolished Is False

Official denial was made that Premier Mussolini intends to abolish law courts and substitute corporative committees. It was said officially the law courts will not be changed.

Displeasure was expressed in official circles that lawyers in the United States should have interpreted the reported possibility of such a change as indicating freedom of trial was being impaired in Italy.

It was pointed out citizens have and will continue to have rights before the courts equivalent to those of other countries.

Will Soon Span Atlantic

Marconi Sees Television Across Ocean in Near Future

Senator Guglielmo Marconi, father of Wireless, said he believes television soon will span the Atlantic just as does sound radio today.

"We will soon be able to see each other by trans-Atlantic television," he told David Samoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, in an international broadcast to celebrate the National Broadcasting Company celebrating its 10th anniversary week. He spoke from his yacht at Genoa, Italy.

BRITAIN WILL NOT LAG BEHIND IN ARMS PROGRAM

Glasgow.—Britain can complete its rearmament program with as much dispatch as any dictatorship, Prime Minister Baldwin declared in a speech here.

While devoting the greater part of his address to social and economic questions, the prime minister denied an opposition interpretation placed upon his recent assertion in the House of Commons that "democracies are two years behind dictatorships."

The prime minister explained he had only meant it was difficult for a democracy to convince its electorate of the need of something which a dictatorship could decide in a single hour.

There was no reason why a democracy could not follow a chosen path with as much assurance as any country, he said. Emphasizing that the rearmament program was primarily designed to protect Britain and Europe from war, Mr. Baldwin asserted:

"If we were to describe this broad line of policy, we should say that we have peace at almost any price, but at the same time to be ready that no man might attack them."

The two-year lag to which he referred in the house indicated, he explained, the lapse of time that might follow the government's realization of the need to rearm and the date of the program's announcement to the public. He recalled that failure of the disarmament conference and vast programs of other countries had caused Britain to abandon its unilateral disarmament policy.

"There are people who seem to imagine the government at that time should have come forward with an extensive rearmament program," he said. "A direct reversal of policy at that moment could never have been effected. The government of the day had no mandate."

Battle Against Communism

Italy Observes Day Of Ignominy And Iniquity

Rome.—Italy observed a day of "ignominy and iniquity," the first anniversary of the imposition of sanctions, while its leaders reviewed the country's relations with the rest of Europe.

The Fascist grand council will meet for the first time this fall after commemoration of the anniversary. Among the subjects well-informed circles expected this supreme policy-making body to consider were:

The battle against Communism, with particular reference to the situation in Spain; the state of Italy's military preparedness; Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano's negotiations with Germany, Austria and Hungary, especially concerning central Europe; relations with Great Britain, and projects for the economic development of Ethiopia.

Would Sell Coal To Canada

London.—The South Wales trade recovery and expansion committee seeks to enlist Canada's aid in returning that area to prosperity. The committee urges that with a view to trade recovery in the Welsh mining valleys the Canadian government should be requested to guarantee to take a minimum of 1,000,000 tons of anthracite from Wales annually.

Second Woman Minister

Toronto.—Miss Reba Fern, B.A., of Algoma presbytery, is the second woman to be taken into the United Church as a candidate for the ministry. Acceptance of her candidacy was announced to Toronto centre presbytery by Dr. W. G. Wallace. First woman ordained was Miss Lydia Gruchy, of Moose Jaw.

For Spanish Priests

Ottawa.—With the approval of Archbishop J. G. Forbes a fund has been opened here for the assistance of Spanish priests who have lost their belongings in the civil war. Headquarters of the fund are at the University of Ottawa.

Tragedy Of South Wales

King Edward Visits Miners And Talks With Unemployed

Merthyr Tydfil, Wales.—The King saw the grim tragedy of South Wales for himself.

For seven hours, with but brief stops, he toured those desolate valleys of unemployment which, like the fingers of a hand, drop down to the sea. He talked with men unemployed for years, with men who found new hope in land settlement, even in voluntary scheme which yield only food coupons.

And despite long-drawn poverty, South Wales gave the king a splendid welcome. At Pontypridd, which lies at the entrance to the Rhondda valley, great crowds broke the police cordon. People gathered about the royal car. Merthyr Tydfil, where 75 per cent. of the adult population is unemployed, saw amazing scenes. Tens of thousands of men, women and children lined the route, cheering as the king drove slowly by. Just outside Aberdare an old woman stood, draped from head to foot in a Union Jack.

For ex-service men the king had a special word of greeting. He talked to them of days in France. At Merthyr Tydfil he stopped to chat with three "old contemplatives," wearing Mons stars.

And the king did his job thoroughly. Hundreds of men stood at the Merthyr Tydfil labor exchange making reports and collecting unemployment pay. The king stepped behind the counter.

"That's what's wanted, Your Majesty," one man shouted.

The king asked first one man, then another, how long they had been without jobs. Five, nine, 10, 11 years, came the replies.

"Terrible," said the king to the man with the 11-year record.

His Majesty specially asked to see Dowlais, the blackest spot in Wales. There almost every family is on relief. The king walked amongst the ruins of great industries. All around, standing on broken walls and heaps of broken bricks, men, who once filled the works with the clamor of their industry sang their welcome to the king who had come to see for himself what was wrong in his Welsh domain.

Britain And France

While Standing Together Would Be Hard To Destroy, Says Winston Churchill

London.—Great Britain and France together would be "very dangerous to molest, very hard to destroy," Winston Churchill declared at the annual banquet of the United Association of Britain and France.

"France and Great Britain have found the way to freedom by different roads," the statesman said. "Here we are and here we stand. United we stand and separated we fall. While we stand together we will be very dangerous to molest, very hard to destroy."

He added the hope that the two countries would find the "United States with them 'at the end of the road' leading to peace and prosperity. But, he said, "we must not ask too much of the United States; we must try to do the work ourselves."

Camille Chautemps, French minister without portfolio who was guest of honor at the banquet, said the Spanish non-intervention pact had been sponsored by Britain and France because they "suffered too bitterly in the past from wars of religion to tolerate ideological crusades to-day."

British Air Force Growing

Has Already Made Good Start Towards Its Objective

London.—Home squadrons of the Royal Air Force now total 80 with 992 first line aeroplanes, according to the latest figures available.

This shows a marked increase in strength since May, 1935, when there were 53 squadrons with 580 first line machines. Air ministry officials said the figures showed the air force had made a good start towards its objective of 128 home squadrons with 1,750 first line machines.

The air ministry's expansion plan also calls for erection of 50 new aerodromes, of which 39 already are in course of construction. The majority of the aerodromes are situated in the south and southeast part of England.

FLYING HIGH

Flying a new type of plane, Flight Lieut. M. J. Admas of the British Royal Air Force is planning a new assault on the altitude record of 50,000 feet recently established by his fellow airman, Squadron Leader Swain.

Broadcasting Survey

Production Officials To Meet At Conference At Ottawa

Ottawa.—Two surveys of the broadcasting situation announced recently by L. W. Brockington, K.C., chairman of the board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, are now under way, it was made known by the corporation. These surveys relate to broadcast coverage in Canada and to the program service.

Gladstone Murray, general manager of the corporation, has summoned program production officials at the corporation's various production points across Canada to meet at headquarters in Ottawa, Nov. 26, in a conference on program building. The purpose of the conference is to bring about improvement in the corporation's program service.

Calling of this conference is a step in connection with the survey of the broadcasting service and is in line with Mr. Brockington's announcement. The surveys will be carried on in other ways, including personal inspection by the general manager of the situation in various parts of the country later on.

Rescued From Ice Floe

Fifty Fishermen Saved From Death In Lake Manitoba

Winnipeg.—Cut off from shore and in danger of perishing on a drifting and breaking ice floe, 50 fishermen were rescued by settlers along the southeastern tip of Lake Manitoba.

Plight of the stranded party was reported from Clandeboye Bay, 100 miles northwest of here. An aeroplane was rushed to the area and settlers along the lake shore put out in fish boats and canoes to their rescue. There were no casualties.

First indication they were castaways and in danger came to the fishermen when they observed an aeroplane circling overhead, they said. The men were fishing through holes in the ice between one to six miles off shore and were unaware of their predicament.

Their plight was observed by shore residents who reported the break-up of the ice-field and its northward drift to A. C. Cunningham, Manitoba director of fisheries at Winnipeg. Mainly persons along the shore put out in boats and canoes to effect the rescue.

Two horses were brought back through the freezing water. The animals were given a stiff rubdown after their chilly swim to shore and appeared to suffer no ill effects from the immersion. Property loss was heavy and consisted of hundreds of nets, a large quantity of fish and two automobiles.

The ice field was estimated to be 15 miles long and approximately four miles wide and extended off-shore between Delta and Clandeboye. The break first occurred at Delta, south of the fishermen scattered in groups across the floe.

Canadian Warships

Two Destroyers, The Cygnet And Crescent, To Come To Canada

London.—The admiralty announced that the two destroyers purchased by the Canadian government are the Cygnet and the Crescent. Manned by Canadian crews, they are expected to leave England early in 1937.

Both were of the building program of 1929. They were built by Vickers-Armstrong, launched in September, 1931, and completed in April of the following year. They have a displacement of 1,375 tons, a complement of 145 and carry four 4.7-inch guns, one three-inch and seven smaller guns, and eight 21-inch torpedo tubes.

The new destroyers will replace the Champlain and Vancouver, borrowed from the admiralty in 1928 and since maintained by the Royal Canadian Navy, which have become obsolete. The ships are almost identical in size and equipment, with the Canadian destroyers Saguenay and Skeema, which were completed in 1931.

Population Increase

Quebec.—Population of Quebec City is 147,638, according to figures made public by the city's hygiene service. This is an increase of 17,945 over the census of 1931.

PLAN OF ASSISTED MIGRATION MAY OPERATE SOON

London.—Prediction that assisted migration to other parts of the empire will be under way again soon is contained in an interim report issued by the Overseas Settlement Board.

The board was appointed last February to consider and advise the government upon specific proposals for empire migration schemes.

It says that a preliminary view of the situation encourages the board to think that improvement in economic conditions overseas and evidence that the idea of empire migration is being viewed with growing favor in the dominions point to the probability that certain overseas governments may be prepared to co-operate in the scheme for a gradual revival of assisted migration in the reasonably near future.

The Empire Settlement Act of 1922 is due to expire in May, 1937. The board expresses the opinion that legislation should be enacted as soon as possible to empower the government to co-operate in agreed schemes for empire settlement.

The board states that the United Kingdom government should not contribute more than an equitable share of the cost of any agreed scheme. It recommends generally this should be 50 per cent. of the cost and in exceptional circumstances 75 per cent.

The board suggests a limit of £1,500,000 ($7,500,000) in any one financial year to cover expenditure. This would mainly be for assisting the cost of passages, initial allowances for training and to a limited extent development or land settlement schemes.

Shatter Five-Year Record

Alberta Girls Win In Swine Judging Contest At Toronto

Toronto.—The 18-year-old Ferguson twins—Ethel and Lillian, from Calgary, Alta., shattered a five-year record in National Farm Club contests in connection with the Royal Winter Fair, by winning the swine judging competition. It was the first time in the history of the event girls had won. The Fergusons collected 1,006 points of a possible 1,200.

Ontario teams took all the other honors except in poultry judging, which was won by two Manitoba girls, Alice Johnson of Winnipeg Beach, and Marguerite Smith of Arborg. Girls have won in this competition before.

Thirty-one teams, totalling 65 boys and six girls participated in the competitions. Highest possible total in all events was 1,200. The Manitoba poultry team scored 1,028.

Ontario entries won the judging contests in beef and dairy cattle, seed grain and seed potatoes.

The prairie twins are real pioneers. The young Albertans were born on a quarter section, walked half a mile to public school and for the last two years have ridden four miles on horseback to high school. Yet they look like a couple of urban college girls.

Commodore Of Fleet

Capt. Peel To Succeed Sir Edgar Britton As C.O.

London.—The Canada-White Star Line has announced the appointment of Capt. R. V. Peel as commodore of their fleet, succeeding Sir Edgar Britton as commander of the Queen Mary. Sir Edgar died three weeks ago. Capt. Peel took over command of the Queen Mary on short notice on Oct. 28 when Sir Edgar collapsed and died a short time before the liner was due to sail for Southampton. The new commodore was in line to succeed Sir Edgar, who was to have retired next April.

Canada Will Take Part

Ottawa.—Canada will take an active part in the Paris International Exhibition next year and steps are now being taken by the Canadian government's exhibition commission, department of trade and commerce, to prepare material for the erection of the Canadian pavilion at the foot of Eiffel tower.

Maximum Economy
Bore, 3.5 in. Stroke, 3.5 in.
Displacement, 239 cu. in.

THE New Ford V-8 for 1937 is the most beautiful Ford car ever offered. It is built in only one size—with one standard of roomy comfort and modern appearance. But you may have either the improved 85-horsepower V-8 engine for maximum performance—or the new 60-horsepower V-8 engine for maximum economy. The smaller engine makes possible a lighter car—a lower priced car, with lower operating costs—and permits still more people to enjoy the smoothness, quietness and reliability of the V-type 8-cylinder engine.

Improved 85-horsepower V-8 engine—Drive it and watch the speedometer!

More than three million owners are now enjoying the superior performance of the Ford V-8 engine on the road. When you drive the 1937 Ford with the 85-horsepower V-8 engine, you are master of a power plant that gives everything you can possibly demand in speed and acceleration. Today it is a better engine than ever—with a better cooling system and new smoothness. Yet improved carburetion enables it to deliver its thrilling performance with unusually low gasoline consumption.

New 60-horsepower V-8 engine—Drive it and watch the fuel gauge! The new 60-horsepower V-type 8-cylinder engine is almost an exact replica of the 85—except for size, weight and power. It delivers V-8 smoothness and quietness—even at speeds up to 70 miles an hour—with gasoline mileage so high that it creates an entirely new standard of economy in modern motor car operation.

We invite you to see this new Ford car at your Ford dealer's showroom, and arrange to drive one equipped with the engine that fits your own needs.

FEATURES

APPEARANCE—A newly designed car. Hood-lamps recessed in fender aprons. Modern lid-type hood hinged at the back. Larger luggage space. Spare tire enclosed within body. Completely new interior. Slanting V-type windshield opens in all closed cars.

BRAKES—New Easy-Action Safety Brakes, of the cable and conduit control type. "The safety of steel from pedal to wheel." Self-energizing—car momentum is used to help apply the brakes. Tests show that about one-third less pedal pressure is required to stop the car.

BODY—Not an ounce of wood used for structural strength. Frame structure all steel, sheathed with steel panels—top, sides and floor. All are welded into a single steel unit of great strength.

COMFORT AND QUIET—A big, roomy car. Extra space in the body, not taken up by the engine under the hood. Comfort of the Centre-Point Ride further increased by smoother action of the long-tapering springs, with new pressure-lubrication. New methods of mounting body and engine make this a quieter car.

Alcohol for Power.

The farmer has a double interest in liquid fuels, says The Pennsylvania Farmer. He is now a leading consumer; he may some day be an important producer. Alcohol made from farm crops can be mixed with gasoline to make a fuel which will run a combustion engine. A wider use of alcohol as a fuel is being hastened in foreign countries by legislation requiring a mixture of alcohol with gas. Without such government intervention the blending does not occur, because gallon for gallon, gas is cheaper and better than alcohol. In the U.S. farmers consume a fourth of the gas used. Until gas prices advance materially it would appear that hopes for a wider use of alcohol as a fuel lie in research rather than legislation. When alcohol can be made cheaper or better than gasoline, no law will be needed to promote its use, and until then any such law is of questionable value to farmers.

Thou Shalt Not Love

— A NOVEL BY —

CHAPTER X—Continued

There came the sound of sibilant gasps from those nearest. The shuffle of feet stopped on the instant. Starr and Michael, too, were stricken as still as though turned to stone, their arms about each other ready to swing into the dance. In the momentary hush it seemed that everyone else stood still, too, listening. But Stephanie Dale was neither hushed nor silent. In a dramatic, bitter moment she was hurling, names at Starr. The kind of names of which only a jealous woman can think.

The whole gay party, their dancing feet stopped for the moment, stood aghast. Almost anything went in their mad set—but not scenes like this.

Stephanie was too angry to care. She had a great deal stored up to say and she was saying it all. Michael's face went from dark red to white. There was pleading in his eyes as he said:

"Stephanie, please!" She stared out at him, then. "I won't keep quiet! Why should I? I'm beginning to doubt whether your interest in this 'Play-girl'—she made the name anathema, while her eyes shot venom—"Is purely professional, as you insist! How do I know you haven't been her lover, in common with half a dozen other men about town? Probably half the men here this minute? But you can't fault her in my face! If you dance with her, Michael, everything is finished between you and me!"

It was a merciless ultimatum. At

PAINS ALL OVER HIS BODY

Kruschen Made Him Feel a New Man

Read the experience of this man, who had rheumatism so badly that at times he was prevented from working.

"About 10 months ago," he writes, "I suffered terribly with rheumatism and neuritis. The pains were all over my body and some days I could not even get up from bed to go to work. A friend visited me and suggested that I should try Kruschen Salts. I did so, the result being that the pains seemed to gradually disappear. I have been going to work ever since without a break, thanks to Kruschen Salts, and I feel a new man."—A.R.

Rheumatic conditions are frequently the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are notable for their work in dissolving uric acid. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel the dissolved acid from the system.

Stephanie's savage onslaught. Starr felt all the life suddenly dashed from her body. Now, unaccountably, her greatest resentment was for Michael.

... Though why should she care? He deserved—well, about anything. But surely not this public embarrassment. As she recovered herself slightly she turned to look at Michael.

She saw the battle he was waging with himself. He could not afford to quarrel with the girl he wanted to marry, to whom it was generally accepted that he was engaged, and yet how many men would have accepted a rebuke like that in public? It was plain he meant to pay no attention to Stephanie, or anything she said. He held on to Starr defiantly.

Starr wriggled free from his arms. She drewled coolly:

"I'll save Michael the embarrassment of making a decision by sitting this one out. It's a little warm for dancing, anyway!"

She walked across the floor alone, toward the long, open windows that looked down over the city. More than one turned to watch her as the music purred on in the dreamy waltz, marveling at her courage. This was a new phase on the character of "Play-Girl," and there was a touch of reluctant admiration and sympathy even in the women's eyes.

This ballroom at the Mayfair was high up over New York City. The balconies outside its windows looked down so that one could imagine themselves on the crest of a hill, with the lights below twinkling like a sea of stars. Starr looked down on them, but somehow they were all blurred and wavy, through a mist that welled to her eyes in spite of herself.

In the distance was caught a glimpse of the glory of the wide river, moon-drenched, turning the craft idling along it into silver boats. But in the light of day they would be dirty hulks, most of them, with no magic of moonlight to touch them. They would not be silver boats; they would be—that was how Starr felt—tarnished.

She stood by the balcony rail, looking down at the lights and at the broad, wide expanse of the black and silver river. Music, muted a little, came from within. The dance was going on as though nothing had happened.

Starr was as surprised to find she was trembling as at the mist that blurred her vision. In spite of her brave front, things like this left their mark. They were bound to. She had not had sufficient experience in life in steeling herself.

She did not know how long she stood there. If made so little difference. Then the figure of a man suddenly appeared, just a dark blur against the wall of the tall building. That would be Lance, of course; he was never very far away. She was surprised that he had not already followed her out.

She moved slightly, glancing from the corner of her eyes. No, not Lance. The figure was too broad and athletic for Lance. Starr's heart gave a queer leap. Michael!

"Starr!" In the misty darkness the girl's lips trembled. A sibilant little laugh tinkled.

"Be careful, Michael—Hassan. I'm poison ivy!"

His voice came swiftly as he took another eager step nearer.

"I want to apologize for Stephanie. Starr. She had no right to say the things she did."

Starr said dully: "It doesn't matter, does it? She only said what everybody else thinks. If I remember what you've rather instigated yourself."

He spoke her name again, and in his tone was a world of hurt.

"Starr!"

"Yes, Michael."

"I want to apologize for myself, too, Starr. No man has the right to do to any woman no matter what his preconceived notions of her, what I did to you. I put you in an impossible position, and then blamed you because you lost your head. It's all my fault; whatever has happened tonight or any other time, is my fault. I didn't realize it until tonight, when I heard Stephanie call you those names, but I knew then, in a terrible moment, Starr, what I had done to you."

A strange tightness caught Starr Ellison's throat. Her barriers were down. She could have matched the supercilious Michael with mocking word for mocking word; she had no weapons with which to fight this new, humble Michael.

He had come closer now, was reaching for her hands with the big strong ones she knew so well. He was trying to look nearer into her face and the pools of her eyes that were hidden in the night blackness. He said impetuously:

"You been a mad foot Starr? I began by being attracted that day I saw you on the street, pouring out your passionate little heart in just a few words that meant volumes to

LAYERBILT 'B' BATTERY

AIR CELL 'A' BATTERY

The quality of radio reception largely depends on your batteries. Ask for Eveready—and be sure!

IT IS AIR CELL that has made battery radio so immensely popular these days. Air Cell—the modern battery—does away with the necessity of re-charging.

Air Cell maintains itself by simply breathing air. It sounds like a miracle and it is indeed one of Science's great achievements. Best of all, peak power level is maintained for 1000 playing hours. No dwindling of power as in other batteries.

And Layerbilt! Well—everyone knows it is the super "B" battery. It is built in tightly-packed layers and gives far longer life than the old-fashioned round-cell types. Thus you don't have to change your "B" battery as often as formerly.

This year, Eveready has eliminated the terminal posts and given you one socket—this means only one connection for each "B" battery. For perfect team work—Air Cell plus Layerbilt.

As a Life Insurance Policyholder

You Share in the Ownership of These Valuable Assets

Government Bonds First Mortgages Municipal Bonds
Industrial Securities Public Utility Bonds

YOUR savings in Life Insurance—which help to form the Assets of the company in which you are insured—not only protect you and your family but also make you a part owner of high-grade securities.

For example—as a Life Insurance policyholder, you share in the ownership of Government and Municipal bonds. These bonds provide for the construction of highways, railways, canals, schools, water and sewage systems, and other important public enterprises.

You likewise have a definite financial interest in Canadian industries, and in Canadian homes and farms.

The Life Insurance companies, which your enterprise and thrift have built up, acting on behalf of yourself and 3,500,000 other policyholders, invest the Assets you have entrusted to them. In making these investments, they exercise the utmost care to secure safety with a satisfactory yield.

Of the combined Assets in the Life Insurance Companies operating in Canada, the major part is invested in Government and Municipal bonds and debentures. Large amounts are also invested in first mortgages on carefully selected city, town and farm properties, and in loans to policyholders.

You can take satisfaction in the fact that Life Insurance companies in Canada have faithfully discharged their obligations. Even in periods of greatest financial stress, every obligation guaranteed by their policies has been fulfilled.

How to be a Class 'A' Barber

Several inquiries have been received regarding the examinations required from those wishing to become barbers. In reply, the following is a short summary of the process required to make the grade in the tonorial art:

The examination usually consists of demonstrating a haircut and a shave under the watchful eye of an examiner who has been appointed by the Provincial Government. A written exam is also held.

There are 2 classifications—A and B. Only those in the A column are permitted to work in towns of 1300 and over.

A barber who falls below these classifications will be forced to serve an apprenticeship under a competent barber before he will be permitted to continue in the business.

Labor, those in B class will be given an opportunity to get into the A class by taking another examination.

There is said to be an understanding that a price code will be put into effect in the near future in the barber trade.

Only those trades which ask for a code receive the support of the government.

Rex v. Smigelski.

On Friday last Magistrate McDulla heard the case against Joseph Smigelski of Carvel, whereby he was charged with theft of three calves. At the conclusion of the Crown's case, George J. Bryan, who acted for Mr. Smigelski, elected to put in no evidence, and argued the case on the basis of the Crown's evidence. At the conclusion of the argument the magistrate dismissed the case.

The New Beacon Light.

Neon light has invaded the central business section of the town. The new beacon is in front of the Okey-Dokey Lunch Counter and sheds its resplendent beams around for quite a distance. Travel-stained pilgrims and others need not go astray now, looking for a refreshment place, as this new sign indicates where you may obtain a dainty lunch or refreshing drink.

The first time one of these signs was seen hereabouts was at the Grove. The evening it was illuminated two horses ran away and the Chink's dog ain't been seen since.

Stony Plain and District.

Mr Ph P Miller was in Calgary this week, on a business trip.

The Moving Picture Man will be here again Sat. with a new picture "Defenders of the Law." This is said to be one of the best gangster pictures to be shown. Added attractions are Hot Tamale, Self Defense, Golden Pagoda.

The Ladies' Aid to Stony Plain United church intend holding a bazar and sale of home cooking on the afternoon of Saturday, November 28. This is the Aid's annual event, and the 28th will be a good date to keep open.

Funeral of John P. Crowe.

The funeral of John P. Crowe, a former resident, took place Nov 17, in Edmonton. Rev Father McGowan officiated. Interment took place in South Edmonton R.C. cemetery. He is survived by five brothers. Several of deceased's friends in Stony attended the service.

Amateur Night.

A good-sized crowd were present at the amateur show given here Saturday night.

Some performers who appeared last season were again to the fore, assisted by some Edmontonians.

The first prize was awarded to Alf Enders, with his violin and harmonica.

Second prize went to the Misses Ries, of Spruce Grove.

Third prize was given Don Ingle, for his performance on a two-stringed fiddle.

Nearing the close, a vote of those present was taken as to whether another show should be given here, and the answer was vociferously in the affirmative.

On the Side.

—Today, Nov. 26, is the American Thanksgiving time, and a big day across the border, particularly to the New Englanders.

—Add to list of anomalies: President Roosevelt traveling on a Battleship to attend a Peace conference.

—The opinion has been voiced in some quarters that the recent shake-up in the Albertan Cabinet will help to hasten the day, when the basic dividends are paid: "When we get our dividend of 25 d. p. m. (dollars per month) it will silence those writers in the West who print such drivel as "the people of Alberta are impatiently waiting for the miracle of something for nothing to happen."

—An item in the dailies tells us Ely Oulbertson, the bridge player expert, has classed himself as "slightly insane" and added "all real bridge players are slightly insane, including myself." This clarifies the air regarding the status of real bridge players.

—Edmonton golfers contributed $12,220 to civic revenues during the season ended Oct. 30, the largest revenue since 1928. The Commission appointed to inquire how much revenue the town of Stony Plain receives from its golf course has not yet made its report.
